The Journey

September 1, 2021

The Heartbeat Act in Texas banned abortion after the detection of a heartbeat, which normally occurs after about six weeks of pregnancy. It relied solely on enforcement by private individuals through civil lawsuits, rather than having state officials enforce the law with criminal or civil penalties. The act authorized members of the public to sue anyone who performed or facilitated an illegal abortion.

June 24, 2022

The Supreme Court overturned Roe v. Wade, holding that there is no longer a federal constitutional right to an abortion. Going forward, abortion rights will be determined by states unless Congress acts. Already, nearly half of the states have or will pass laws that ban abortion while others have enacted strict measures regulating the procedure. It is up to the state to what extent if at all to allow abortions.

August 26, 2022

On August 26, the Human Life Protection Act, HB 1280, went into effect to completely protect unborn babies from the tragedy of abortion beginning at conception. The Human Life Protection Act is the last stake in the heart of the abortion industry in Texas. The Human Life Protection Act provides multiple avenues of protection against illegal abortions in Texas. The Guttmacher Institute, a leading advocate for legal abortion, reports that all 23 abortion facilities in Texas have ceased performing abortions. Violators can be sentenced to up to 99 years in prison, be fined $100,000 or more, and lose their medical licenses. This bill does not allow prosecution for the treatment of a miscarriage or ectopic pregnancy, and women cannot be charged for seeking an abortion.

. From George Brooks, Board of Directors President:

“Please note that abortions are illegal in Texas (with noted exceptions), but women are going to (prior) abortion clinics and doing video conferences so that abortion pills can be sent to them from out of state. Abortion pills are now available “on the streets” in the neighborhoods targeted for the deaths of their babies, some of which are counterfeits, and some of which are dangerous substances. The end game is to recognition that the unborn child in its tiniest and undeveloped condition is a person, small and they have a right to have their life protected

Let Them be Little cause they're only that way for a while.

Give them hope, give them praise, give them love every day.

*Let them cry, let them
giggle, let them sleep
in the middle.*

Oh, just let them be little.

Thank you to all who donate time, money and prayers to this ministry!

We had a wonderful Mother's Day collection from St. Mary, St. Martha, 2nd Baptist, and Assembly of God. Our cabinets were blessed but while we enjoyed the fullness our numbers also increased. Our supplies have slowly diminished. We could use larger diapers, 4-6, and boy clothes 6-9 and up to 18 months.

Thank you...

Humble Assembly of God

If you must look back, do so forgivingly. If you must look forward do so prayerfully. However the wisest thing you can do is be present in the present gratefully. Maya Angelou

From Our Files:

1. A young lady came in with a very soft voice and heavy shoulders. She was here many years ago, from that positive result, she aborted the baby. She is a former addict but has been clean for 7 years. She had a DWI and lost her license so she has no ID. The main issue on top of all that is she has an S shaped uterus and doctors told her NOT to get pregnant because it would be fatal. She is very high risk. She came here for a test that was positive. She is abortion minded.
2. A young woman who dropped out of school at 9th grade came in. Her mother just recently passed away and her father is on drugs. Her boyfriend has been with her for 5 months. We don't know if he intends on staying with her. She said she is good either way if he goes or stays. She just wants a baby to love and a baby to love her back.
3. The young lady claimed to be a lesbian but had a one night stand with someone she has known for many years. She does have a 4 year old child that is autistic and doesn't want anymore children. The test was negative. At the end of the visit she stated that she is going to have her eggs harvested and sold.
4. Update on the transgender person, she made adoption plans for her baby but the baby came early at 29 weeks. After the baby arrived and she saw the baby's face and how she is struggling to live, she decided to keep the baby.
5. A very sweet couple came in for their layette. This is their second child. Their first baby has Down Syndrome. This hasn't caused great distress but rather a change of plans. They are willing to help anyone in the same situation. Their child is doing very well. The second baby was born without Downs.
